Auto Starter: Automotive advance makes dangerous jumper cables obsolete

Zenith Crystal Clear Stereo: Powerful bass and crystal-clear sound from a compact, affordable stereo.

The Phazer: Makes your vehicle "invisible" to police radar and laser speed-traps—legally.

Bring a drained battery back to life without opening your hood

The remarkable Auto Starter® eliminates the need for dangerous jumper cables and can provide independent power for a variety of uses.

Before Auto Starter, a drained battery meant you either had to call a tow truck or try to get a jump from another vehicle. Now, you don't need a jump—you don't even have to open the hood. You simply plug the unit into the cigarette lighter, wait a few minutes and you're on your way. Leave the unit plugged in for 30-120 minutes while driving and it recharges automatically. The five-amp sealed alkaline battery operates under extreme temperatures, from sub-zero to 120 degrees. It is less than eight inches long, so it stores easily in your glove box. Once it's charged, Auto Starter will retain the power to start your car for five years. It is the easiest, most convenient protection you can own.

Portable power. Auto Starter is also an independent 12V DC power supply that can operate TVs, radios, cellular phones and laptops. Almost any appliance that runs off an adapter can operate independently with Auto Starter, so it's perfect for picnics, camping, boating and more. You can even use it as an emergency alternator to run your car's engine for up to one hour. You wouldn't think of driving around without a spare tire—why not have a spare battery and alternator that fits right in your glove box?

Try it risk-free. Considering the cost of a tow, Auto Starter will pay for itself the first time you have a problem. It is backed by a one-year manufacturer's limited warranty and Comtrad's exclusive risk-free home trial. If you are not fully satisfied for any reason, return it within 30 days for a full refund, "No Questions Asked."

How to make your car invisible to radar and laser!

Rocky Mountain Radar introduces a device guaranteed to make your car electronically "invisible" to speed traps—if you get a ticket while using the product, the manufacturer will pay your fine!

You can't catch what you can't see, so this amazing device is the perfect solution to police speed traps. It seems that as speed-detection technology has gotten more and more advanced, speeding tickets have become virtually unavoidable. Now, Rocky Mountain Radar offers drivers a perfect solution—the Phazer. Combining a passive radar scrambler with an active laser scrambler, the Phazer makes your automobile electronically "invisible" to police speed-detecting equipment.

The radar component works by mixing an X, K or Ka radar signal with an FM "chirp" and bouncing it back at the squad car by way of a waveguide antenna, effectively confusing the computer inside the radar gun. The laser component transmits an infrared beam that has the same effect on laser Lidar units. The Phazer begins to scramble both radar and laser signals as far as three miles away. Its range of effectiveness extends to almost 100 feet away from the police car, at which point you should be able to make visual contact and reduce your speed accordingly.

Encourage responsible driving. While the Phazer is designed to help avoid speed traps, it is not intended to condone excessive speeding. For that reason, within the first year, the manufacturer will pay tickets where the speed limit was not exceeded by more than 30%, or 15 miles per hour, whichever is less.

Risk-free. The Phazer comes with a three-year manufacturer's warranty. Try it, and if you're not satisfied, return it within 90 days for a "No Questions Asked" refund.

Phazer is legal in every state except California, Minnesota, Oklahoma, Virginia and Washington, D.C.

The Phazer:
Three credit-card payments of $66.50 $14 S&H

dear SEG

Where's BBC America?

WWOR still on big dish

Dear SEG

In your September 1999 issue, you provide listings for BBC America on S4, 14. However, when I go to S4-14, I get WWOR-TV, New York. Other channels listed for S4, such as Cornerstone and STARZ!, are present on this satellite, so I am pretty sure that I am tuned in correctly.

J. Muirhead
via Internet

Dear J.:

Relax, there's nothing wrong with your tuning. BBC America was initially scheduled to replace WWOR during the summer, but according to National Programming Services, which was planning to carry the channel, talks apparently broke down. WWOR will continue to broadcast from its current spot at S4, 14.

Dear SEG

Can I mount a DBS LNB on a 10-foot dish to eliminate signal fallout?

M. Black
via Internet

Dear M.:

Running DBS off a 10-foot dish is not a fun thing to do, unless the dish mount is very rugged and you don't have any winds.

Mounting most DBS LNBFs at the focal point is easy. I used an old Chaparral PR1E adjustable C-band feedhorn, took it to a local machine shop and had them bore out the inside (after cutting off the back end) just enough so that the DBS LNBF was a friction fit. I set it up so the plastic cover front end of the DBS LNBF was just sticking out of the front of the old feedhorn, used silicone seal to secure it, and adjusted the focal point for the best signal, and voila! That's the easy part.

But with a 10-foot dish, you can separate satellites EchoStar 1 and 2 or DBS 1 and 2, which means that if you aim carefully you can get mostly the odd transponders or mostly evens, and this is not a good thing. Remember, each satellite carries just odds or evens.

A six-foot dish is about optimum for overall gain and performance during bad weather, and it isn't so picky that you start picking up mostly one DBS satellite of a pair. Stick to solid metal dishes, not mesh or fibreglass.

C-BAND ALLIANCE OF CANADA

IS SOMEONE STEALING YOUR RIGHT TO CHOOSE?

As a big-dish TV owner, you have access to the wonderful world of satellite TV:
• Over 20 satellites • Hundreds of channels • Superior quality reception.

C-Band is your choice in a fiercely competitive world of TV entertainment sources.

BUT ARE YOU AWARE YOU COULD LOSE YOUR RIGHT TO CHOOSE?

Following government approval of small dish satellite TV (Direct to Home or DTH), attempts have started to have C-Band satellite TV declared illegal.

The groups behind this move are cable TV and telephone companies—the suppliers of DTH systems. They describe C-Band TV systems as "grey market" and "illegal."

They are using this tactic even though neither the Government of Canada nor the Canadian Radio and Telecommunication Commission (CRTC) have ever declared C-Band systems illegal.

Perhaps they have recognized in the past that huge areas of Canada were for years under-serviced by traditional broadcasters and the cable TV companies.

If C-Band TV is declared illegal, tens of thousands of Canadians living in small towns and rural areas will face the prospect of losing their investment in big-dish satellite TV.

YOU CAN HELP PREVENT THIS!

Distributors and dealers of C-Band TV equipment and service have formed the C-Band Alliance of Canada (CBAC), a not-for-profit organization to represent people like yourself who will be affected.

CBAC will speak on your behalf to the Government of Canada, to the CRTC, to the media and to Canadians generally.

CBAC is dedicated to preserving an industry which has played a vital role over the past two decades in providing under-serviced areas of Canada with the same—or better—TV programming available in larger urban centres.

CBAC WILL FIGHT TO ENSURE THAT YOUR RIGHT OF CHOICE IS NOT TAKEN AWAY.

When you wanted TV, C-Band was there for you over the last 18 years. Where were they?

We need to show the government and the CRTC that the C-Band community is united in opposing the strong-arm tactics of a small group of big businesses who want to monopolize the satellite TV market.

As one of the many Canadians who have invested in a C-Band TV system, will you help?

We invite to lend your support by joining the CBAC. There are no fees involved. Just complete the membership application form and send to the address shown—or hand it to your C-Band supplier.

THAT'S ALL YOU HAVE TO DO. STAND UP FOR YOUR RIGHT TO CHOOSE.

BY ROY W. URRICO

Will parental guidance technology have an impact on how we watch TV in the new millennium?

"I invite you to sit down in front of your television set. I can assure you that you will observe a vast wasteland—a procession of game shows, violence, audience participation shows, formula comedies."

—Newton Minow, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) in his inaugural address to the National Association of Broadcasters in 1961.

20TH CENTURY FOX

A UCLA study on television violence, released in 1998, raised concerns about excessive violence in children's shows like the Power Rangers series.

Since its inception, television has come under fire from those concerned by the influence this medium has over young people. From Gunsmoke and The Untouchables to Mighty Morphin Power Rangers, The Simpsons and South Park, the concern has been whether TV teaches children that violence and socially inappropriate behavior are acceptable.

As we begin a new millennium, parents have been empowered with the so-called V-Chip, a microprocessor that can censor objectionable TV programs. Yet, serious questions remain. Can it make a difference? Will it be used?

V-Chip technology enables viewers to program their televisions to block out content with a common rating put out by the Canadian Radio-television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) or parental guidelines set by America's regulatory body, the Federal Communications Commission. As of Jan. 1, all TV manufacturers must equip their sets—that have picture screens 33 centimeters (13 inches) or larger—with the capability of blocking programming based upon its rating and pre-selected parental parameters. Set top boxes containing V-chip technology for use on existing sets are also available.

The advent of the V-chip, officially introduced to the market in 1996 by Canadian inventor Tim Collings, comes at a compelling time. Defenders say that V-chip technology permits parents to safeguard children from viewing violent and explicit programs. Opponents claim it violates the rights of broadcasters, and imposes government censorship on the television industry. Surely at a time when violent acts committed by and to children occur with alarming regularity anything that would help assuage destructive impulses would benefit society.

The evidence about the consequence of TV violence on youth is overwhelming. The concern over TV's link to violence has been spoken of since the '40s, but it made an official impact in 1953 when a U.S. Senate panel was authorized to learn about the impact of television violence on juvenile delinquency. A 1960 study in Columbia County, N.Y., concluded that the TV violence children watch at age eight can be linked to levels of aggression 10 years later. A report released by the Surgeon

The average American child will see 8,000 simulated murders before finishing elementary school.

General's Scientific Advisory Committee on Television and Social Behavior in 1972, concluded that TV violence does influence children and increases the likelihood that they will become more aggressive in certain ways.

The next landmark report was the 1982 study from the National Institute of Mental Health. This review was a 10-year follow-up to the Surgeon General's report that violence on television does affect the aggressive behavior of children—and adults for that matter. In 1992, the American Psychological Association Task Force on Television and Social Behavior confirmed what 30 years of research had shown about the harmful effects of TV violence. The American Psychological Association Commission on Violence and Youth reaffirmed these conclusions in 1993.

By now, the numbers are too familiar:

• American children spend an average of 28 hours in front of the TV each week (more than any other activity besides sleeping).

• The typical American child views 12,000 violent acts on TV every year. In prime time that averages out to five violent acts per hour. Perhaps most alarming is that Saturday morning programming shows 20-25 violent acts per hour.

• The average American child will see 8,000 simulated murders before finishing elementary school.

By the early '90s, the evidence made it clear that TV execs had to take more responsibility for programming content.

"In 1961, I worried that my children would not benefit much from television, but in 1991, I worry that my grandchildren will actually be harmed by it," said Minow.

In May, 1992, the CRTC launched its program to bridle TV violence. The Commission set as specific objectives implementing strong industry codes; providing the public with better information through program classification; giving viewers more control through new V-chip technology; and changing attitudes through public awareness programs. By 1996 both the CRTC and the FCC had a rating system in place and V-chip measures ready to roll in by the end of the century.

The efforts by the CRTC and the FCC has had an impact. The general quality of children's television programming on the networks has improved according to a 1999 Annenberg Public Policy Center study. The report says children's shows have a greater percentage of "enriching content," and fewer "low-quality" and "no enriching content" shows exist. However, the report discovered that parents still consider children's TV too violent.

That discovery was echoed by a UCLA study on television violence released in 1998, which fingered four children's shows (Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles, Project G.e.e.K.e.R., Power Rangers Turbo and X-Men) as containing "sinister violence." The study, which monitored TV shows from 1994 to 1997, also deplored the rise of the "shockumentaries" like CBS' The World's Most Dangerous Animals and Fox's World's Scariest Police Shootouts as recent trends in television violence. Ironically, the study noticed that violence dropped in prime-time cop shows (once a bastion for gratuitous action), even going so far as to praise shows like Law & Order, Homicide: Life on the Street and NYPD Blue for being able to handle violence in a responsible manner.

One of the programs on V-chip proponents' hit lists is South Park, which last summer made its film debut. In the movie, which premieres this month on pay-per-view, Cartman is implanted with a V-chip that delivers a severe electric shock every time he utters a naughty comment. This is both ironic and clever since one of the major detriments to the V-chip's effectiveness is how much it will actually be used—or misused.

Experts and lawmakers question whether the V-chip would be able to effectively block out unwanted programs if the ratings data is not accurate. A recent Kaiser Family Foundation study found that 79 per cent of programs with violent material did not display appropriate ratings.

An Annenberg report also discovered misuse of ratings. The investigation detected that of the 28 per cent of children's shows that had four or more acts of violence, 75 per cent did not have the appropriate rating. Such mislabeling prevents the V-chip from blocking out these shows.

PARAMOUNT

The movie version of South Park includes a satirical jab at the V-chip.

Proponents of the system believe it will take years for the V-chip and the overall TV ratings system to take hold. Evidence shows that up to now parents and children have been virtually ignoring the ratings system. An Associated Press poll revealed that while parents respect the onscreen ratings they are also virtually ignoring them for the most part.

"I believe that television is going to be the test of the modern world—we shall discover either a new and unbearable disturbance of the general peace or a saving radiance in the sky," essayist E.B. White wrote in 1938. "We shall stand or fall by television, of that I am sure."

January Selections

SUPER BOWL XXXIV

It may turn out that the team with the healthiest pivot will win the Vince Lombardi trophy when the AFC and NFC conference winners scrimmage in Atlanta. Jets' Vinnie Testerverde, 49ers' Steve Young, Broncos' Brian Griese and Dolphins' Dan Marino were among QBs requiring medics during the season. So far, division leaders Miami, Jacksonville, San Diego, Detroit, St. Louis and Washington are among the favourites to kick off at the summit.

Jan. 30 at 6 p.m. (ET) on ABC

THE THIN RED LINE

Sean Penn, George Clooney, Woody Harrelson and Nick Nolte literally bring back director Terrence Malick (Badlands) from nearly 20 years of obscurity to steer this Second World War-based offering that takes place in Guadalcanal. The bloody battles are predictable, although Malick prefers to deal with the inner conflicts of the soldiers involved in the island invasion.

NFL playoffs get underway this month on ABC, CBS and Fox.

57TH ANNUAL GOLDEN GLOBE AWARDS

Last year's big story was producer David E. Kelley's double sweep of the TV comedy and drama categories, respectively for Ally McBeal and The Practice. In movie categories, speculation reigns supreme as to whether winners can score at the Oscars. It certainly worked for Gwyneth Paltrow (Shakespeare in Love) and Steven Spielberg (Saving Private Ryan).

Jan. 23 at 8 p.m. (ET/PT) on NBC

WAKING NED DEVINE

This delightful comedy about how folks in a sleepy hamlet try to cash in a winning lottery ticket held by a recently-deceased resident is soaked in Irish charm, not to mention a few pints of the good stuff. Writer-director Kirk Jones weaves together an endearing story showcasing an eccentric cast headed by Fawlty Towers' David Kelly.

Jan. 21 at 8 p.m. (ET/PT) on CINEMAX

NHL HOCKEY

The first national telecast of the millennium has the Toronto Maple Leafs dipping below the border to play the Buffalo Sabres, while the Edmonton Oilers swoop down south for a desert showdown with the Phoenix Coyotes.

IS SOMEONE STEALING YOUR RIGHT TO CHOOSE?

As a big-dish TV owner, you have access to the wonderful world of satellite TV:
- Over 20 satellites • Hundreds of channels
- Superior quality reception.

C-Band is your choice in a fiercely competitive world of TV entertainment sources.

BUT ARE YOU AWARE YOU COULD LOSE YOUR RIGHT TO CHOOSE?

Following government approval of small dish satellite TV (Direct to Home or DTH), attempts have started to have C-Band satellite TV declared illegal.

The groups behind this move are cable TV and telephone companies—the suppliers of DTH systems. They describe C-Band TV systems as "grey market" and "illegal."

They are using this tactic even though neither the Government of Canada nor the Canadian Radio and Telecommunication Commission (CRTC) have ever declared C-Band systems illegal.

Perhaps they have recognized in the past that huge areas of Canada were for years under-serviced by traditional broadcasters and the cable TV companies.

If C-Band TV is declared illegal, tens of thousands of Canadians living in small towns and rural areas will face the prospect of losing their investment in big-dish satellite TV.

YOU CAN HELP PREVENT THIS!

Distributors and dealers of C-Band TV equipment and service have formed the C-Band Alliance of Canada (CBAC), a not-for-profit organization to represent people like yourself who will be affected.

CBAC will speak on your behalf to the Government of Canada, to the CRTC, to the media and to Canadians generally.

CBAC is dedicated to preserving an industry which has played a vital role over the past two decades in providing under-serviced areas of Canada with the same—or better—TV programming available in larger urban centres.

CBAC WILL FIGHT TO ENSURE THAT YOUR RIGHT OF CHOICE IS NOT TAKEN AWAY.

We invite to lend your support by joining the CBAC. There are no fees involved. Just complete the membership application form and send to the address shown—or hand it to your C-Band supplier.

THAT'S ALL YOU HAVE TO DO. STAND UP FOR YOUR RIGHT TO CHOOSE.

HOW TO ORDER PAY-PER-VIEW

What equipment do I need?

All Pay-Per-View orders require a VIDEOpal equipped VideoCipher II Plus descrambler, or a VC RS descrambler. To check if your VideoCipher descrambler is equipped with a VIDEOpal, your Unit Address Number will begin with 02D, 040, or 041.

Open an account:

Once you have a VideoCipher equipped with a VIDEOpal, you then need to open an account. This only needs to be done once and is accompanied with a one-time small fee. To open an account call the Satellite Video Center at 1-800-548-4336.

Things to remember:

On some brands of satellite receivers, please make sure to attach a telephone cable from your home's telephone jack outlet to the telephone outlet on the back of your VideoCipher II Plus or VC RS module. This cable must be in place in order for you to order Pay-Per-View events through your remote control.

To order a current program:

1. Check the listings for the date and time of the program you with to watch. Tune your descrambler/IRD to that satellite and channel just before the program starts.
2. Press [VIEW] on your remote control or keypad to preview program selection, length and price.
3. Then press [ENTER] to order the program, and press [ENTER] again to confirm your order.*

To order the next program:

1. Choose a Pay-Per-View channel.
2. Press [NEXT] and read the title, amount of time before program begins, and price.
3. Press [ENTER] to order the program, and press [ENTER] again to confirm your order.* If you decide not to view the program, simply change the channel before the program starts. Your order will not be recorded.
